MARRIOTT GOLF INTRODUCES “KIDS GOLF-4-FREE”

Doral Golf Resort & Spa Among 52 Marriott Golf Destinations To Offer Program; Designed to Make It Easier for Adults and Kids to Play and Learn the Game of Golf Together

Orlando, Fla. – May 11, 2006 – Marriott Golf, the world’s largest resort golf management company, today introduced “Kids Golf-4-Free,” a new program that allows adults and kids to play and learn the game of golf together. The program is available at 36 of Marriott Golf’s most prestigious resort destinations, encompassing 52 courses, including Doral Golf Resort & Spa, in Miami. Children up to 15 years old golf for free when accompanied by a full paying adult after 3:00 p.m. In addition, Marriott Golf is also offering free lessons anytime to kids up to 15 years old when accompanied by an adult who is taking a fully paid lesson from a Marriott Golf instructor.

“Kids Golf-4-Free is designed to promote youth golf. We are excited to participate in a program where kids have the opportunity to play at premier golf facilities, and hone their skills under the direction of the world’s finest PGA Professionals,” said Darrin Helfrick, General Manager of Golf, Doral Golf Resort & Spa. “What’s equally exciting about this program is that it further emphasizes Marriott Golf’s commitment to growing the game and encourages families to golf together.”

In addition to Doral Golf Resort, facilities such as Camelback Golf Club (Scottsdale, Ariz.), Grande Pines Golf Club (Orlando, Fla.), and Forest of Arden Country Club (Meriden, England) are among the 52 golf courses participating in “Kids Golf-4-Free.” This not only enables junior golfers to being introduced to some of the finest golf courses in the world, but adults and kids can now play and learn together whether on vacation, or simply sharing quality family time.

“Kids Golf-4-Free” features two components. The Free Play program enables kids up to 15 years old to play for free when accompanied by a full paying adult. The program, which is based on availability, is valid for one free round per child with each full paying adult. The Free Instruction program enables kids up to 15 years old to receive a free golf lesson when accompanied by an adult who is paying for a lesson. Both golf lessons must be taken at the same time with the same instructor. For more information on the program, including restrictions that may apply at participating golf clubs, log on to www.marriottgolf.com.
